

Another level restoration by Walter Hall

Another level, this time a nice little 4" Stanley machinist's level. The patent date format marks it out as from the USA.

Someone had previously been a bit over zealous with mechanical cleaning of the brass plate but a bit of tlc and Brasso has removed most of the marks. Inside had been left uncleaned and contained a century's worth of detritus which was cleaned out with a dry brush then cleaned with a dampened piece of paper towel. I couldn't decide if the main body had at one time been chemically blackened or not, so compromised by only blackening the patterned side panels.
